BIDMYCRIB, LLC LAUNCHES DIGITAL CONTRACT GENERATION TECHNOLOGY

...we have responded with another software-as-a-service module that completes our one-stop-solution for customers and service pros to better manage their entire project from start to finish

LIBERTY TOWNSHIP, OH (February 1, 2010) – BIDMYCRIB, LLC announced today they have developed a digital contract generation technology that will be launched March 1, 2010. The technology will be made available as an independent module within their current, online customer accounts on their proprietary website BidMyCrib.com®.

The value proposition of the technology is that it streamlines not only the process for creating custom contracts between customers and service professionals, but it includes the ability to digitally sign the contract remotely and convert it to a secure PDF format to print and save to their hard drive, or their account on our website. “Our customers’ feedback identified an additional opportunity to strengthen our technology, so we have responded with another software-as-a-service module that completes our one-stop-solution for customers and service pros to better manage their entire project from start to finish,” said Morgan C. Jones, CEO.
